

International Sales Trainee is an entry level position. Individuals will receive 2 months of in-depth training at the corporate headquarters in Easton, PA to understand the whole sales cycle. The training will include a combination of classroom instruction, exposure to several key sales support departments, and customer visits. After successful completion of the training program, there will be opportunity to continue training in the United States prior to placement in an international territory to promote the Victaulic mechanical piping system concept.

Qualifications and experience:

- Must be willing and able to train in the US up to 12 months after graduation and return to the country of residence at the conclusion of training.
- Fluency in English required.
- Well-rounded individual with an outgoing personality who is a team player and enjoys working with people.
- Strong work ethic, with good communication skills both verbal and written.
- Self-starter, striving to be the best.
- Strong organizational and problem solving skills
- Above average mechanical aptitude, and the ability to interact with a diverse customer base.
- A four year college degree in engineering, business or liberal arts.
- Previous experience in sales or a sales internship role preferred

